A Message from Spiro Cheriogotis
Mayor of the City of Mobile, Alabama

Dear residents,

Let me officially invite you to join the Mobile Parks and Recreation Department this season as we fall into fun at our parks and community centers.

This Activity Guide is your invitation to discover all the incredible programs, events, and opportunities our dedicated MPRD team has planned for the months ahead. From youth sports and fitness classes to community celebrations and family-friendly events, there's truly something for everyone to enjoy. Whether you're looking to try something new, reconnect with neighbors, or simply spend more time outdoors, you'll find countless ways to make lasting memories this fall.

As mayor, I want to build a city that stands the test of time, a city that works for everyone, and a city people love to live in and want to visit. Vibrant parks and safe, clean community centers are an essential part of that vision. The work MPRD staff do is more than maintaining greenspaces and providing activities for residents; it's about improving quality of life and using taxpayer resources in a way that truly benefits the community. Our facilities are more than just places to play; they serve as gathering spaces where communities can come together and thrive. We want to continue to provide opportunities for residents of all ages to enjoy these facilities.

If you haven't been out to one of our parks, community centers, or greenspaces in a while, I'd invite you to stop by soon. This Activity Guide can be a very useful tool for finding out about all the great things happening in your neighborhood facilities. Many of the activities featured in this guide are low-cost or free of charge and are aimed at helping bring families, communities, and citizens of all ages closer together.

Have a ball this fall with the City of Mobile and MPRD!

Thank you, and God Bless,

Mayor Spiro Cheriogotis

WELCOME

A Message from Shonnda Smith
Executive Director of Public Works

Community of Mobile,

Just a few months ago, we welcomed you into a summer of discovery. Together, we explored our parks, cheered on young athletes, and celebrated the people and places that make Mobile special. Your participation reminded us why our mission matters and why parks and recreation play such an important role in building a healthier, more connected community.

This fall, we continue that momentum. Every day, the dedicated employees of the Mobile Parks and Recreation Department make a difference across our city. They coach young athletes, teach new skills, maintain our parks and facilities, plan community programs, and welcome families through our doors. Their work may happen behind the scenes, but its impact can be seen throughout our neighborhoods and in the lives of the people we serve.

That commitment is also reflected in the improvements happening throughout our department. This year, we introduced a new website for the Azalea City Golf Course, making it easier for golfers to reserve tee times and explore the course. We've also continued to invest in our parks and public spaces to create safer, more welcoming places for families to gather, play, and enjoy the outdoors.

Looking ahead, we are refining how we serve our community. Our focus is shifting from offering more programs to delivering stronger programs. In partnership with the City of Mobile Events Department, we are working to create larger community events, expand the depth of our programming, and offer classes and experiences that better reflect the interests and needs of the people we serve.

What would you like to see from Mobile Parks and Recreation? Scan the QR code, and take a few minutes to share your thoughts about the programs, activities, classes, events, and recreational opportunities that matter most to you. Your feedback will help us better understand what our community wants and needs as we plan for the future.

Thank you for allowing us to serve you. We look forward to seeing you this fall.

Shonnda Smith
Executive Director of Public Works

Why you should read at least 15 minutes a day

Ages 0-5

Young children whose parents read to them daily have been exposed to at least 290,000 more words by the time they enter kindergarten than kids who aren't read to regularly.

Ages 5-18

Reading improves concentration and focus. When you block out undistracted reading time, you're exercising your focus and concentration muscles.

Adults

Reading is an excellent way to reduce stress. In just six minutes, reading can relieve muscle tension and lower your heart rate.

Seniors

Brain stimulating activities from reading have been able to slow down cognitive decline and memory loss.
